

Gaal a problem solver

To the editor:

With the upcoming retirement of several experienced judges in Monroe County, our local justice system is in transition. We're fortunate to have Chris Gaal want to serve our community further in the judiciary.

As a city council member and our county prosecutor, Chris has always been interested in improving our community via hard work and practical approaches to addressing some of our most challenging problems.

He recognizes that making our community better and safer involves all of us. He's committed to education about our roles in building a safer community and deepening our understanding of various justice issues.

He's not just interested in doing a good job. He's proactive about what works, from problem-solving courts to the recent nurse family partnership, from children to elders.

I've practiced law here for over 30 years and am confident Chris will be a fair and impartial judge. He also has a deeper level of commitment that will serve us well.

I support Chris Gaal for Monroe Circuit Court Judge and encourage others to do so.
